

The largest Canadian distribution network is now connected to the world.

Now you only need one choice for your global shipping demands... to, from, and within Canada.

Getting goods from overseas manufacturers into the hands of customers in North America should be a sprint not a relay. We've built a reputation for providing our customers with the most flexible transportation and distribution methods in the country. Now Purolator Global Supply Chain Services can meet all your needs to and from any destination in the world and provides the speed and efficiency you require for all your direct-to-market needs. Our presence in cities like Shanghai and our distribution facilities close to port ensure we are the one global solution for all your needs and those of your customers.

How does Purolator's flexibility and reliability improve your business?

- Increased speed to market means a faster return on inventory purchased and minimized stock outs. This is achieved through advantages like freight forwarding services, integrated customs services and store direct import container services that speed up the flow of business.
- Minimize your business costs through the reduction of inventory investment and more importantly reduce your business' investments in fixed assets. Purolator now does everything including emptying import containers, short-term storage and distribution through our courier, freight, and intermodal networks. Our integrated processes mean less investment on your part and increased savings to your customers.
- Access to expertise and increased visibility means you'll always have a support network close at hand. Potential problems that can impact your business can now be foreseen and dealt with efficiently with the help of Purolator's resources and knowledgeable staff of distribution experts. Our state of the art tracking technology helps ensure that your goods are scanned at the point of origin, during transfer, and right up to receipt by the customer.

The Purolator you know and trust has made advancements offering you more flexibility and resources in today's marketplace. Helping you realize the potential of your business and that of your customers is our top priority. This is the model for Canada's global business. This is where business is going.

For more information on how Purolator can help the flow of your global business please call 1-888-529-9777 or visit www.purolator.com/global.

Key benefits of Direct to Market distribution

Reduce Distribution Centre Costs – DC bypass reduces the need for a distribution centre by unloading containers at port after arriving by air, land, or sea. Purolator can then create store level or end customer-specific shipments. We can also store your goods and ship them through our transportation network when you are ready.

Manage Peak Season Volumes – Demand spikes can pose many problems for any business that does not have the capacity to handle them. Our team of logistics experts can help in addressing emergency situations before they affect customer expectations, problems like time delays and promotional or seasonal build-ups.

Increase Speed to Market – We've sped up traditional freight forwarding by cutting out the trip to the distribution centre and integrating the final delivery process. This ensures a fast return on inventory purchased and minimized stock outs for you and your customers. We achieve this through services such as sorting inbound containers and allocating product to its final destination.

Overcome Delays – Our supply chain aims to minimize time delays as they happen, whether it's delays at customs, port congestion, bad weather, or other factors. Purolator's stage-by-stage scanning process helps us track your route and avoid setbacks. In addition, distribution centre bypass cuts out the need for extra travel and processing so you can get goods to their final destination much faster.

Streamline factory to market distribution – Our global supply chain services offer you a single solution for importing goods into Canada and seeing them delivered directly to market. We can handle all of your needs from customs brokerage to container deconsolidation. We ensure direct distribution from overseas manufacturers to you and your customers by redistributing your goods upon arrival in Canada and avoiding the need for a distribution centre.

Increase visibility with state of the art tracking technology – Our state of the art wireless tracking technology uses a number of processes that help you maintain the visibility of your goods throughout your global supply chain. Using scanning at point of origin and hub scanning during transfer, you achieve a full line of sight up until the product is in the hands of your customer. 24/7 information access means never having to wonder.

Purolator offers these features and more in support of its direct to market distribution:

- Ocean and air freight transportation to and from any North American gateway
- Insurance and Customs Brokerage
- Short term storage enabling timed release and day definite distribution
- International courier network
- North American less-than-truckload and full-truckload network